

Astrology, Mythos, and Spirit: Bridging East and West

Komilla Sutton, Jhampa Kalsang, A.T. Mann, Jhampa Shaneman,
Alexander Mallon & Robert Thurman

Menla Mountain Retreat Center, Sept 17-20, 2009

Astrology has played a profound role in the collective psyche of many cultures throughout the ages. This unique astrology conference will bring Columbia University Professor of Indo-Tibetan Studies Robert Thurman together with a stellar constellation of practicing Eastern and Western astrologers. Whether you are a lay person interested in astrology and spirituality, or an expert astrologer looking to learn more about Tibetan and Vedic astrology, you won't want to miss this spectacular event!

Comparative Astrology Conference Program

The conference will feature lectures, panel discussions, breakout sessions facilitated by speakers, and question and answer sessions. Topics covered will include:

- the philosophy of Tibetan, Vedic and Western astrology
- astrology's role in the creation of mythological and spiritual worldviews
- practical applications of astrological techniques
- predictions for the Obama administration, the anticipated end of the Mayan Calendar in 2012 and other future events.

Special Bonus! All participants who provide their birth information will receive free Vedic and Western charts. Each evening we'll draw several names from the Magic Hat. Selected participants will receive a brief reading from these different astrological perspectives.

*Menla Mountain Retreat & Conference Center, Phoenicia, NY
(845) 688-6897 ext. 0*

For more information or to register, please visit www.menla.org or email us at menla@menla.org

